Vols Are Favored To Trim Wildcats

Kentucky Underdogs By Two Touchdowns

The Kentucky Wildcats left this morning for Knoxville, where they will meet their bitterest rival, the Tennessee Volunteers, tomorrow afternoon at Shields-Watkins Field. The game is set for 2:30 o'clock (Knoxville time).

For the Cats, this will be the most important game of the season. A victory will make the Kentucky campaign a success, while a defeat will make Wildcat followers ready to forget the 1948 season and hope for better next year.

Neyland Jinx
The 22-year-old jinx of UT Coach Bob Neyland over Kentucky football teams will be tested again.

Since 1926, when ex-Army General Bob Neyland first went to Tennessee, the Vols gridiron teams have never been defeated by a Kentucky eleven.

The Orange and White, under Neyland, have a record of 13 wins, three ties and a loss against UK.

Vols Better This Season
Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant said Wednesday that according to his scouts "Tennessee is two or three touchdowns better than they were last season."

Bryant's scouts also were impressed with the Vols' rugged tackle, Norm Meseroll. Assistant Coach Frank Moseley considers UT's Hal Littlefield one of the best all-around kickers that he has ever seen.

Other standouts for the Orangemen are Passer J. B. Proctor, End Jim Fowell, and Fullback George Ballistreri, who is the brother of former assistant and mentor, Mike.

55-Year Rivalry
This game Saturday will be the 44th meeting of the two schools in a span of 55 years. In this period, Kentucky has won 11; Tennessee 28; and six contests ended in deadlocks.

Last November, the hard-running Vols whipped Kentucky, 13-7, on Stoll Field before a large Homecoming crowd. The Cats had entered the game as a slight favorite.

This year the tables are reversed. Kentucky travels to Knoxville a two-touchdown underdog. A victory for the Big Blue would easily be the biggest since their 26-0 trouncing of Georgia in 1947.

The Neyland clan has been the

Permission Needed For Vet's Transfer

Any veteran who wishes to transfer from one college to another must have prior approval of the Veterans Administration. It is suggested that veterans report to room 204, Administration Building well in advance of the semester in which they wish to transfer colleges in order that proper forms and permission may be filled out.

Annual Festival Of Ag Honorary To Begin Tonight

The annual Fall Festival of the College of Agriculture will be held tonight and tomorrow night in the Stock Pavilion under the sponsorship of Block and Bridle, agricultural honorary. Both programs begin at 7 p.m.

With the exception of the war years, the Fall Festival has been held at the University annually since 1922.

Dean Cooper To Speak
Tonight's Festival program will be opened with an address by Dr. Thomas P. Cooper, dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Other features will include sheep and hog showmanship contests, and an exhibition of prize sheep by Harold Barber, University herdsman. Three judging team scholarship awards will also be presented during the program tonight.

Hula Dance On Program
Various stunts will also be presented, highlighted by a hula dance. The Saturday evening program will feature an address by Dr. W. P. Garrigus, head of the department of animal husbandry and faculty adviser to Block and Bridle.

Following the cattle showmanship contest, the remaining judging team scholarship awards will be presented.

Also on the Saturday program is F. D. Johnson, coach of the judging team, who will exhibit 14 steers which the University will enter in the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago next week.

King And Queen To Be Crowned
The Festival will be climaxed by the presentation of grand champion showmanship trophy and the coronation of the king and queen.

The king and queen were selected at an Agricultural College convocation Tuesday afternoon. Jane Barnett was named Queen, and Betty Strunk and Sue Dosset alternates.

Following the Saturday night program, dancing will be held at the Crab Grass Room of the Pavilion until 12 midnight.

Judges of the cattle, hogs and sheep showmanship contests will be James Quisenberry, Winchester; A. P. Adair, Paris; and Clarence Kendall, Owenton.

Thanksgiving Basket Donation Drive Opens

A drive to collect Thanksgiving baskets for the needy will be sponsored again this year by Alpha Phi Omega Service fraternity. All Greek-letter organizations on the campus are asked to participate.

Bob Meador, vice president in charge of service, stated that letters to fraternities and sororities for donations would be mailed this week.

Meador added that "last year's drive proved to be very successful, and Alpha Phi Omega intends to make it an annual project."

All Greek-letter organizations co-operated in the drive last Thanksgiving.

DR. TAYLOR AT HOME

Dr. William S. Taylor, dean of the College of Education, has been released from the Good Samaritan Hospital after six-week illness. Dr. Taylor is now at home at 112 Cherokee Park.

Four Attorneys Hired To Instruct KSC Negro

Four Frankfort attorneys have begun their new duties as UK law professors in the latest development of Kentucky's program of higher education for Negroes.

Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the University, outlined a new two-fold plan this week designed to meet the needs of John W. Hatch, Negro law student at the Kentucky State College in Frankfort.

First, four new professors who reside in Frankfort were added to UK's faculty, and second, the classes have been moved from the KSC campus to the State Capitol where the student has access to the State Law Library.

Original Plan Changed
The original plan, which was carried on for half a semester, called for seven university law professors to go to the KSC campus weekly to teach Hatch. The state set up $45,000 to make these opportunities available to all Negro students, out so far, Hatch is the only applicant who has taken advantage of them.

Dean Elvis J. Stahl, Jr., of the law college, said the new plan for teaching Hatch was an improvement. It gives the student a "more normal schedule," he said.

"Oh, it's all right," was Hatch's remark about the new arrangements, but Dr. A. B. Atwood, president of KSC, condemned the plan as a violation of the state's agreement to teach Negroes at his school what

Mrs. Phyllis Stiles, field representative of Proctor and Gamble, will be on the campus Dec. 1 to interview students interested in securing full time positions in the Economic Research Department of Proctor and Gamble.

Students who are interested may register for interviews at the dean of women's office.

Approximately 302 pledges are expected to attend the banquet. Among those to be introduced are the following presidents: John Angellis, Omicron Delta Kappa; Walter W. Cooper, Phi Eta Sigma; Ned Breathitt, Lamp and Cross; Bill McCann, Key; Fred Perkins, Lances; John L. McLaughlin, Interfraternity Council; Harold Holtzclaw, YMCA; and the dean of men, A. B. Kirwan.

Kentuckian Queen Will Be Crowned At Coronation Ball

The Coronation Ball for the Kentuckian Beauty Queen, sponsored by Lamp and Cross, will be held Nov. 27, from 9-12, in the ballroom of the Student Union Building.

Tinker Baggerly and his orchestra will play for the semi-formal cabaret dance. Lamp and Cross officers have requested that no corsages be sent. Tickets will sell for $1.50, stag or drag.

The queen will be crowned by Ned Breathitt, president of Lamp and Cross, at the intermission of the dance. Candidates for the crown include: Forgy Kirkpatrick, Frances White, Patsy Allen, Nancy Brewer, Bertha Ann Lutes, Priscilla McVey, and Cora Frances Saffell.

Attendants for the queen will be presented according to the number of judges' votes they received. Roy Wallace is in charge of arrangements.

Alumnus Award Given Judge Stoll

Judge Richard C. Stoll, Lexington, received the first annual award given to an alumnus for outstanding and unselfish service to the University by Alma Magna Mater, in a ceremony preceding the homecoming game Saturday.

The award, a foot-high engraved trophy, was presented to the Judge's son, R. P. Stoll, by Mike Edgeworth, president of Alma Magna Mater. Judge Stoll was unable to attend the ceremony because of ill health.

Selection of the alumnus to receive the trophy was made by the members of Alma Magna Mater, an organization for sons and daughters of former University students. The action was approved by the UK Alumni Association.

A member of the University Board of Trustees for fifty years, Judge Stoll resigned last May as chairman of the executive committee. The University's athletic field is named in honor of Judge Stoll.

The Rev. Adolphus Gilliam, pastor of First Methodist Church, will be the speaker.

The musical portion of the program includes "The Lord's Prayer" by Ruth Adams, former student at the Chicago Conservatory of Music.

A quartet composed of Joyce Davis, Jesse Maloney, Mary Frances McCall, and Bob Bittow, will sing "Thanks Be To God."

Background music will be supplied by Mrs. Lewis Mills, director of the Carnegie Music Room.

Professor Addresses Bacteriology Society

Dr. H. S. Staffeth, head of the department of bacteriology and public health at Michigan State College, will speak at a meeting of the Bacteriology Society, Monday, 7:30 p.m., in the Funkhouser Biological Science Building.

Dr. Staffeth recently returned from China where served as chief veterinarian for UNRRA and assisted in the establishment of the Lanchow National Veterinary College, the first of its kind in China.

Noted Author Named Next Forum Speaker

McGeorge Bundy, co-author with Henry L. Stimson of "On Active Service in War and Peace," will be the third speaker in the Lexington Public Forum series Nov. 23, at Henry Clay Auditorium.

Dr. Bundy, 1948 Lowell lecturer at Harvard, and recent consultant to the Economic Cooperation Administration, will discuss "Is Europe Recovering?"

Countess Alexandra Tolstoy, daughter of the famed Russian novelist, was the first speaker in the series of five Forum programs.

Tickets will be on sale at the dean of men's office until Tuesday.

Guignol Players Score Triumph In Bernard Shaw's 'Pygmalion'

"Pygmalion," a five-act play by George Bernard Shaw, is being presented by the Guignol theatre during the week of November 15 at the new theater on Euclid avenue. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Charles Drew aptly portrays the part of Henry Higgins who applies his vocation of speech control through the study of phonetics to Eliza Doolittle, excellently characterized by Beth Caddy.

Kenneth Scott is convincing in the role of Colonel Pickering who loses his bet with Higgins that the speech control master cannot transform the cockney guttersnipe, Eliza, to convince London society that she is a charming duchess after only six months training.

Scene Stealer
Harry Stanton as Alfred Doolittle, Eliza's photosophizing father who detests middle class society but finds himself unwillingly thrust into the wealthy class, dominates every scene in which he appears.

Representing English society is Mrs. Eynsford-Hill, played by Charlotte Corn Renfro, and Priscilla Hancher acts as her fad-and-fashion conscious daughter, Clara Eynsford-Hill.

Alice Dean Barstow appears as Mrs. F. Pearce, Higgins' prying housekeeper, and Norma Bradley Arnold has the role of Henry's mother who is embarrassed at her son's manners and unfavorable toward his experiment with Eliza.

Students To Elect Ten To SGA On Nov. 30

By Ben Reeves

The fall election of the Student Government Association will be held Tuesday, Nov. 30, to fill ten vacancies in the Assembly. Balloting will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Students in the College of Arts and Sciences and graduate students will vote in the Y Lounge of the Student Union Building. All other students will vote in their respective colleges.

Voting machines will be used in all polling places. John Crockett, president of the Student Government Association, said.

Candidates for all SGA offices should file with the office of the registrar immediately. Application blanks are now available.

Fund Established For Scholarships

A continuous scholarship fund now valued at approximately $50,000 has been given to the Engineering College through the will of Ernest B. Ellis, Fayette County road contractor who died in 1923, it was announced recently.

The fund is to aid graduates of Lexington and Fayette schools and will be known as the Ernest B. Ellis Foundation.

Fund Honors Dean Anderson
Mr. Ellis stated in his will that he created the fund in appreciation of the work Prof. F. Paul Anderson had done in building up the Engineering College and to enable the beneficiaries to receive an education which would fit them to succeed in life.

Under terms of the will, the scholarship fund became effective after the death of his wife, Mrs. Mary L. Ellis, Oct. 23.

Mr. Ellis also provided in his will for the E. B. Ellis Tau Beta Pi Scholarship Award of $100 to the engineering senior with the highest standing for his freshman and sophomore years. This scholarship award has been in effect for a number of years.

The money is to be used to support either wholly or partly a Fayette resident who is unable financially to support himself and who will maintain grades which shall be satisfactory to the dean of engineering.

Money Is Debt Of Honor
The money furnished to a person must be regarded as a debt of honor and be repaid to the estate of the estate who will add the amount to the principal of the foundation again.

Recipients of the scholarships will be selected by the judge of Fayette Circuit Court, the superintendent of Lexington schools, and the dean of engineering. The terms and conditions of the foundation will be advertised each summer for four weeks.

Faculty To Announce 'Professor Of Year'

The University's "Distinguished Professor of the Year" for 1948-49 will be announced next week after the faculty votes on the five nominees.

Nominated for the award are Dr. Louis A. Pardue, professor of physics and recently appointed dean of the graduate school; Dr. Morris Scherago, head of the Department of Bacteriology; Dr. Charles Snow, professor of anthropology; Dr. Herbert P. Riley, head of the Department of Botany; and Prof. John Kuiper, head of the Department of Philosophy.

Although the honor is open to all University professors, all five of this year's nominees are faculty members of the College of Arts and Sciences.

The distinguished professor award last year went to William Snyder Webb, head of both the Department of Physics and the Department of Anthropology and Archaeology. He delivered his "distinguished professor" address in Memorial Hall last spring.

The 1946-47 winner of the honor was Dr. Thomas D. Clark, head of the Department of History. Dr. Clark is author of many well-known books, mostly dealing with Kentucky or the South.

Minor Roles Well Done
Louise Hill is the parlor maid. Kent Hollingsworth, Gordon Brown, Michael Grainger, and John Renfro have the parts of "bystanders." Although they have minor roles, their portrayals of London cockneys adds atmosphere and color to the first act.

Eliza does pass herself off to London society as the result of her training and Higgins is jubilant over the results. But when he realizes that Eliza has fallen in love with him, another problem arises.

Home Ec Conference Ends With Address

The annual conference of the Kentucky agriculture and economics extension workers will end at noon today with an address by Dean Thomas P. Cooper on "The Enlarged Extension Program."

The conference, which began Tuesday, was held to establish, study, and evaluate various phases of an effective extension program in agriculture and home economics.

Epsilon Sigma Phi, an organization of extension workers with 10 or more years of service, gave a banquet and initiated new members Wednesday in the Home Economics building.

Phalanx Hears Speaker

Campaign platforms have been drawn up by both the All-Campus and Constitutionalist parties.

ACP Announces Platform
James Eddleman, president of the All-Campus party, said, "We intend to fight to make student government express many students instead of a few. We believe that SGA will continue to be a force as long as it is dominated by a comparatively small social group."

Included in the party's seven-point platform are plans to take "vigorous action in representing the students in such matters as the Thanksgiving holiday."

The party also went on record as opposing "the commercial attitude on the part of those in charge of such supposedly student enterprises as the Kernel," and the policy of turning over concessions at athletic events to outside companies.

The party favored SGA insistence on the publication of "facts and figures on the profits made by the Campus Bookstore and the cafeterias."

The platform also included a request for "setting aside suitable places on the campus for additional parking space."

Speech Heads Platform Group
The Constitutionalist Party's platform, drawn up by a committee headed by Rusty Russell, listed as one of its objectives the increasing

A speech clinic sponsored by two UK departments and the Kentucky Speech Teachers Association will meet on the campus today and tomorrow.

Consultants of the speech Clinic will be recognized authorities in speech training and associated phases. Among the visiting specialists will be Dr. Gladys Borehars, professor of speech at the University of Wisconsin; Dr. Charles A. The program of the clinic will include panel discussions and informal talks on particular phases of speech work.

'Pygmalion' Held Over
"Pygmalion," current Guignol production, will be held over until Nov. 27, with a Thanksgiving night performance included.

Pre-Law Students Must Check Records

Pre-law students who expect to complete requirements for admission to the College of Law at the end of the semester should call at the Registrar's Office in Room 16 of the Administration Building to have their records checked.

This should be done before the beginning of the Christmas holiday, Dec. 18.

Campus Wheels In Low Gear

Campus politics is a fascinating game, perhaps even more so than "kick-the-can" or "red rover."

Many a would-be "wheel," past and present, has traded in his freshman cap for an eager smile and a glad hand in the grill.

But the most fun can be had by playing behind-the-scenes manipulation.

After some weeks of "you vote for my man and I'll swing the entire vote of something or other," the real entertainment begins. The nominating committees sit down in somewhat smoke-filled rooms and decide whose turn it is to be put up.

Platforms are then carefully composed. An occasional concrete thought may creep into such programs, but by and large they advocate greater power for SGA, revitalization of SGA, cooperation between students and faculty, and love of God and country.

After all this there are still the strenuous campaign activities to be endured. Is it any wonder that most candidates are so tired after being elected that they can only sit and relax quietly in SGA meetings for the rest of the year?

Students who are really interested in campus activities cannot be classified as campus politicians. But campus politicians must have their little hobby, and successful candidates must have their activity points.

Another SGA election is upon us, and with the present trend toward a single party on campus, nominating groups become increasingly important.

Of all the phases of democratic action to imitate, the Senator Phogbound tradition is perhaps least "big-time." But these "big-time" operators don't think so, and they go on politicking for the sake of politicking, because it's such an entertaining game.

It's just the same old case of the little monkeys imitating the big apes.

Happy Day

There may be only one day off for Thanksgiving, but there's a whole week's vacation for the Kernel staff.

Happy Thanksgiving—for us, anyway.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I wish to commend the foresight of the university authorities in the erection of a fence around President Donovan's home. Such precaution will prevent student trespassers.

However, does such foresight pertain only to the beauty of the campus, and President Donovan's home? Surely, just ordinary foresight could have been used in erecting a fence around the top of the stadium. Whiskey bottles, etc., will inevitably fall from the stadium, someone will eventually be hit, and the result may be fatal.

I want President Donovan to have a fence around his home. I want the University authorities to make his property safe from trespassers. But I also want them to look out for my fellow students and my own welfare. I want a fence around the stadium.

WILLIAM FORD CHESHIRE

Dear Sir or Madam,

Allow me to state that your editorial on Thanksgiving is the most ridiculous thing I have ever read. It does not reflect student opinion, for student opinion agrees with me when I say we want no Thanksgiving holiday at all.

What other schools do is a trivial matter. Mature college students do not want that day taken from their studies. In fact, 99 per cent of UK students regard Thanksgiving as a theft of something precious, namely a day in classes.

We are not tired of school; we have only been going since Septem-

Cookin' With Gaskin

The Asbury Collegian brought forth a heavily opinionated article this past week that will no doubt heavily influence the world. It's a moot point whether it will or not, but here goes:

"Why is a duck?"

Answers:
"A duck is because pigeons aren't."

"Because if it weren't for ducks what would water roll off the backs of?"

"A duck is because he forgot to."

"A duck is because of the aqua."

"A duck is because we should be kind to our web-footed friends, for a duck may be somebody's mother!"

"A duck is so that you will have something to do when you see a rolling pin coming."

"The difference between a duck is one leg is both the same."

"A duck is in order to produce wise quacks."

Now that we all know why a duck is because, on to other matters.

GINEEN PEARL McFISH

Madam Editor:

This is not a letter written in bad feeling or poor sportsmanship. It is the result of puzzlement and the desire for information. The subject is the recent homecoming decorations award and the information wanted is—on what grounds are such awards made?

Is originality desired? Two of the top three of this year's selections dealt with meat grinders being turned by huge cats. The only difference was the size of the cat and grinder and the colors used.

Is it the number of themes used by each organization? If it is a contest seeing who can get the most different ideas in the smallest space, let that be a contest in itself.

Is any consideration given to the time and labor devoted by the organization to the display? Possibly a difficult thing to determine unless it is staring you in the face.

Is it the fact that the display was made within the fraternity by the members' own hands used in making the decision? In other intramural activities professional or outside help is considered unqualified. Why should it not be so in this activity?

Next year there will be another

Homecoming Day and with it more homecoming decorations by the fraternities. It is only fair for those participating to know on what basis the display will be judged so that they may know how to plan them. Your help will be appreciated in seeing that such announcements are made.

WALTER B. FERGUSON

To the Editor of the Kernel:

Immediately upon reading Mr. des Cognets' letter to the Editor on the contemplated honor system at the University of Kentucky, I felt that the writer had hurled slanderous remarks not only at the student body, at those responsible for the administration of the University, but also at the State Legislators, and the general public in the state of Kentucky.

However, a more carefully considered judgment reveals that Mr. des Cognets has embodied in his discussion a few of the basic problems which confront this endeavor.

We, too, know that the movement has to come from the student body; that student leaders will have to determine whether an accused has actually violated the honor code.

of student knowledge regarding SGA. The party favored reviving student discussion groups to determine what is wrong with SGA and how to improve it. It advocates more power for the Student Government Association to promote the welfare of the student body.

Also favored were creation of an activity bureau where pertinent data on all campus organizations would be on file, and the promotion of student spirit through campus-wide projects. The party also favored better coordination and cooperation between the administration and the student body.

Past Record Reviewed

Russell pointed out that, in the past, the Constitutionalists had favored creation of the transportation pool and issued cards for hitchhikers. He said the party had also worked out the plan for filling vacancies in the SGA assembly by which names of competent students are submitted, regardless of party affiliation.

The SGA committee members in charge of arrangements for the election are Ridgely Parke and Mike Edgeworth, co-chairmen; Katherine Greenwood, Bob Coleman, Jim Graham, Marshall McCann, and Bob Deen.

The SuKy trophies for homecoming decorations were awarded this year to Kappa Sigma (left) for the men's residence units and Zeta Tau Alpha (right) for the women's units. The houses were judged at noon Saturday by Bart Peak, Bob Cox, and Miss Victoria Yates. The trophies were presented by Charley Whaley, SuKy president, at the homecoming dance in the Ballroom Saturday night. This is the second consecutive year that Zeta Tau Alpha has received first place.

The Spice Of Life

By Ruby Graham and Jubie Anderson

Well, here it is again—the greatest production since the event in Buckingham Palace Sunday night! Homecoming was a big success, especially for the bars around town. Congratulations to the Zetas who were expecting, and to the Kay Sig butchers. The SAE's sure put out some delicious 'Gatorburgers' too.

Eli Jackson had a date for the game with a real live alligator. Wonder what the Lydia Brown gals thought about that?

Shelly Thompson deserves a big, fat "A" for her success in carrying out a reform program at the P. Kap House. She's starting with the officers.

Jim Blair would like to know what Joan Specht thinks a man is.

Why is "Rabbit" Wallace called "No Report" now?

Mike Carmichael is working as a cook in his spare time. Do you think his cowboy hat makes a sanitary soup pot?

The campus policemen took a pot shot at a certain well-known man-about-campus Saturday night. What was he doing looking in Boyd Hall windows?

The Alpha Sig party boy, Ray Schaefer, has eloped and headed for sunny California.

Rumored: Al Terhune is jewelry store window-shopping.

It's been a long time since we've reported on the foibles of our Kernel editor. (And it will be a long time till you do too, Ed.)

Bob Doyle's girls all get pinned! Monk Stout got pinned to a Centre Beta an hour after he left the Cottage with Bob Wedel's afternoon. His date for the formal Friday night got pinned over breakfast at the Horseshoe Saturday morning. And she was wearing his orchid too!

Speaking of the Phi Tau formal, we hear the guys got a bit "atty"—the favors, we're speaking of! And "Sitty" makes a mighty cute 'Dream Girl'.

Mike Mills had a good reason for calling Bluegrass Field Saturday night. Her plane came in, but she's still in the clouds.

Dick Womack has another cutie snatched—his Nancy Richards this time.

Fred Nichols has a thing index to keep his girls straight—what do you think of that, Ed?

There are two Shirley Parters on campus. We get embarrassed, too.

Bubba Robertson ought to quit going home on weekends. Someone is sure beating his time with Judith Luigart.

"Sweet-tweet" Byrd created havoc at the Phi Delt luncheon Friday night.

Judy Breaddus went to the game with Bill Prince but took time out in the third quarter with Tommy Reche.

Charley Hawley is jealous of Jim Brummett. Charley Hawley, Charlie Hawley, Charlie Hawley. Now don't say your name hasn't been in here, Charlie!

Do the noises rattling china coming from Ed Joubert's room in the Phi Delt mansion explain his new name?

Bill Gutermuth gets socks (argyle) and kicks (?) out of doing.

Suzanne Hannahs.

J. P. Malone is aiming his bow and arrow at Marela Middleton.

Watch "Chass" Seaman this weekend. He has booked Nancy Brewer for tonight and Jo Davis, his old flame, for the trip to Knoxville.

Burt Pollack likes the thought of Mary Alice Schisler. We can't blame him!

Wherever we see Jackie Miller, we see Doug Osborne and vice versa. What could this be?

Remark of the week: "What I need is a little broadening."—Pope Coleman.

Pinned: Nancy Marks and Tommy Burke; Mary Ann Rice and Kent Floyd; Mary McKinley and a Centre Beta; Kitty Richardson and J. C. Lyons; Evelyn West and Jim Northcutt; Lois Fields and Jim Riggs; Barbara Holman and Robert Clements.

Unpinned: Jan Bovis and George Martin; Mary Halmhuber and Hal Holter.

Bill Hanna has a knack at writing ads.

Can anyone find a euter pair that Cathy Harlowe and Cheney Everett? "Tis 'very good'!"

Cliff Miller got lost in front of Jewell Hall Saturday night.

Bobbie Dean Yates seems to be the only person in Jerry Inman's life these days.

Johnny Walthall is working on a version of "When Irish Eyes are Smiling." It takes a pin, not a pen.

Who won the hog-calling contest at Joyland Saturday night?

Engagements: Jean Taulbee and Jack Oliver; Mary Margaret Marks and Bill DeWitt; Rosemary Dummitt and Ben Buckley.

When is Henry P. Young going to bring "the blonde" around to the Phi Delt House?

The Delt certainly got for Mildred Cox. Currently it's Jack Ballantine.

Matt Downer and George Conway are trying to explain to Bucky Fouts why they weren't at the Phi Tau House when the girls started singing.

AGRs at the Ice Poles in Louisville: Alko Barnes and Colleen Duval; Bruce Carter and Emma Barnes; Joe Peden and Joby Ridley; Arthur Hounshell and Rachel Johnson; Wilbur Nichol and Betty Vaughan.

Donna Russell pulled a quicker with two dates the other night. How did Johnny Kaster take that?

The Alpha Sig suffered a mild concussion (or was it a brainstorm?) when they nominated Lee Miles for the ugliest man contest.

Bob Mosely has lots more time to devote to Barbara Harris since he moved in the house. No more family study hours!

Col. "Fish" Mattingly entertained Capt. Joe Meek for a ray week. They say he's a great fish!

Anne Perrine used to be in kindergarten when Andy Clark was in high school. The gap sho' is closed now!

Johnny Traut wants a girl who doesn't mind dating a motor scooter. Next time you look at Bill and Bob Gregory, guess which one has the 'Tom'.

Spencer McClure and John L. McLaughlin plan to get pinned if they can stay in love three straight days. (Anybody seen a crooked day?)

Bill Beutzel has at last found his dream girl. He's trying to get up his nerve to ask Dusty Rhodes for a date.

John Rose is sad because his jeepster hasn't helped his popularity.

Dave Cheek has a secret love in Frankfort. How does he do it?

Couples about campus: Bill "Daisy Mae" Wilson and Bob Stone; Faye Fitzgerald and Dick Overstreet; Betty Blake and Gus Stergeos; Ann Tracy and Mike Carmichael; Marvin Kilgus and Bill Mansfield.

The old flame is burned out: It's Raymond Jones and Louise Wilson we're speaking of.

Ruth Jordan was all smiles over the flowers from Tammy Coughlin. Maybe they'll be gettin' back together again!

You fans (?) please excuse our spellin' machine (kinda kin to the broke-down election machine, don't you think?)—last week it was Charlie Boone and Joan Pfeiffer. Accidents will happen!

And to sign off here's a rhyme: A lot of us are filled with glee, For we're off in Tennessee! 'Twill be a lot of fun, you'll see— But don't forget about Mon-dee!

Most of the classes which were burned out in the Norwood Hall fire last week are now located in other buildings on the campus. The building, which was destroyed, housed the botany department, the Kentucky Geological Survey, and the State Department of Mines and Minerals.

Dr. Herbert Riley, head of the botany department, said that all of the lecture classes are meeting on schedule, but that some of the laboratory classes cannot meet until satisfactory laboratory equipment is obtained. Some of these have been turned into lecture classes.

Most Classes Being Held

Most of the botany classes are now being held in the newly constructed Social Sciences Building. The rest of the classes and the offices of the botany department are in the Funkhouser Biological Sciences Building. The Geological Survey is now located in Miller Hall, and the Department of Mines is on Graham Avenue, in barracks formerly used by the State Highway Department.

Although these arrangements were described by University officials as "temporary," there is little hope for bettering the situation until the new Fine Arts Building is completed. It is not expected to be ready for use until next September.

The cause of the fire has not been determined. Loss, estimated at $200,000 by Comptroller Frank D. Peterson, included a 25,000-piece botanical collection more than 100 years old, most of the equipment belonging to the botany department, and the Geological Survey, and all the laboratory equipment and records of the Department of Mines and Minerals.

Library Is Destroyed

Dr. F. T. McFarland also lost a personal library valued at $8,000.

An extensive collection of algae, belonging to Dr. McInteer, of the botany department, was also destroyed. The collection contained specimens from various lakes in Kentucky, and about 25 of them had not yet been identified.

Some of the microscopes which were recovered from the fire can be repaired and put back into use, but the rest were damaged beyond repair, according to Dr. Riley.

Luckily enough, a new research microscope costing $1200, which Dr. Riley had ordered since August, 1947, came in last Monday, four days after the big fire.

Structure To Be Razed

The remaining structure of Norwood Hall will be torn down and hauled away. The excavation will be filled and the area sodded over, according to Dr. H. L. Donovan, University president.

Dr. Donovan said that at present there are no plans to reconstruct a building on this site. He did, however, express a hope that a new science building would be constructed on the campus. He said that

We have the Kodak Film and photo lamps you'll need. Also see us for expert finishing.

Pledges Announced By Music Honorary

Alpha Gamma chapter of Phi Mu Alpha, national music honorary fraternity, announces the following pledges: Jack Steers, Joseph Denny, William Pause, and Robert McGee. These men were formally pledged at a meeting Sunday in the Student Union Building.

Following the pledging ceremony, a banquet was given in honor of the new pledges at the Jefferson Davis Inn. Motion pictures of prominent music personalities were the highlight of the evening's program. The films, which were shown by the president, John Kulper, were a combined educational-recreational feature of the program, and featured famous vocalists, string ensembles, and pianists. A March of Time feature on the development of modern swing was also shown.

Other guests were Dr. Edwin Stein, music department head, Almo Kiviniemi, Gordon Kinney, Robert Morgan, and Ford Montgomery, all members of the music department staff.

Chess Lessons To Start

Chess lessons will be conducted in room 304 of the Student Union Building from 3-5 p.m. on Thursdays.

For advanced players of the group openings, middle game and end game principles will be stressed. All chess players are eligible to attend the meetings.

The Student Union Chess Club meets in the Card Room of the Student Union Building at 7 p.m. on Wednesdays.

Plans for such a building have been completed and await action of the State Legislature. The building would house the physics and chemistry departments.

Letters To The Editor

that the student elected Honor Council will have to be free from outside and local politics; that there must be a definite plan, well-organized in advance—all of this is necessary in order that the Honor System will not become a farce, either because the students are not informed as to what is expected of them or because of the lack of judicial processes to handle the individual cases.

Mr. des Cognets does not think that the honor system would work here because this is a large, state institution, yet he acknowledges that it does work at the University of Virginia.

The truth of the matter is that not only the University of Virginia, but the Universities of North Carolina, of Florida, and of California, to name a few large state-owned institutions, abide by the honor system. In addition, there are many universities in the West and South which have the honor system, not to mention the traditional "eastern schools."

The basic problem is not the size of the school, or whether privately or publicly owned, but rather whether there are a few men and women on the campus who would give part of their time to study of the system and the formulation of a workable plan, and the indoctrination of the student body to the system.

The motorists who abide by the traffic signals, though not under the direct supervision of a policeman, are as numerous in Kentucky as in any other state.

And there are no more nickels missing from the newspaper coin container in front of our Union Building than there are from the change container at Washington and Lee, a small and privately owned institution, where the famous honor system was recently exemplified in the newspaper by a picture of unguarded coins and books.

There is not a swift and easy solution of the present conditions, but if the student leaders unite their abilities and energies in time a prize-winning system will be the culmination of their efforts.

Then, no longer will there be a possibility of anyone regarding a UK graduate as "an informed giant and an ethical infant."

Possibly, to speak of honor would be useless; but to speak of the great tradition that the honor system would build here and to know that each of us had something to do with its establishment; or to speak of a more congenial student-faculty relationship (which certainly cannot in any way work against the student); or to mention a new conception of the student body in the eyes of the public or of future employers; or to say a professor would be more likely then to give us the benefit of the doubt in an exam; or that the University exam room will no longer be the breeding ground of cheats and crooks; or finally to emphasize that investigations have shown that the average grades remain about the same, with very little change up or down in the number of A's, B's, C's, etc. after the system has been established or after it had been abandoned—all the above would appeal, and should appeal, to the average student.

Even if only one student accepts the honor system it would work. Our federal Constitution was voted on and accepted by a very small minority, but today it is universally followed in the United States. The laws that regulate our conduct and protect our privileges are not followed altogether because we really wanted them and approve them all, but because we know anarchy, such as exists in the exam room, is dangerous to all of us.

In closing, the words that come rushing to my mind are "this above all to thine own self be true," for surely does not each one of us want to be "A man of truth; lord of his own actions; and expressing this lordship in his behavior; in other words, a gentleman."

JOHN ANGELIS

Editor of the Kernel:

Having been rather active in campus affairs during the past two years, and being away from the University now, I enjoy following developments in the still ad-swamped pages of the Kernel.

Most hopeful note I read: SGA affiliation with National Student Association. Congratulations to the SGA Assembly and president. Student government at UK may now have a chance.

Most discouraging note: the noisiness of campus Dixiecrats and their dark confusion. Is there anyone around who might enlighten them?

Most disturbing note: the increasing lack of sympathetic relations between students and administration. What profiteth it an institution if it gain the whole Bluegrass and lose its own soul?

Most cryptic note: the letters of Miss Gineen Pearl McFish. Probably a follower of some obscure ideology like existentialism (Bluegrass version) or more likely someone who read a Max Schulman High School Primer once too many times.

Carry on for good and great journalism! The Kernel is turning out expert advertising managers at least.

Cordially yours,

Charles G. Boggs, Ex '48

Player Of The Week: George Blanda

By Dudley Saunders
This week the Kernel honors the "Man Down Under." Quarterback George Blanda, for his stellar passing against Florida, George has won "Player of the Week" honors and the right to captain the Wildcats against Tennessee tomorrow.

Honorable mention goes to Kentucky's All-SEC nominee, Tackle Bob Gain. Center Harry Ulinski. Halfbacks Dick Martin and Jim Howe.

At one stage in the Gator game, Gain made three consecutive tackles within the Kentucky ten-yard line, practically halting a Florida scoring threat single-handedly. Big Harry caught many thrusts through the center of the line. Besides scoring on a great catch, Blanda was probably Kentucky's outstanding defensive back. Howe caught three passes, and scored on a 23-yard broken field run. Jim gained 3 yards on five rushing attempts, an average of 7.5 per try.

But to return once more to the feats of Blanda, it should be said, that the brawny Pennsylvanian has been the outstanding offensive claw for the Wildcats all year. He has completed 53 out of 99 tosses, good for 870 yards and 11 touchdowns. That 870 yards constitutes better than 80 percent of Kentucky's aerial gain, and more than one-third of the yardage gained by passing and rushing for the entire team.

Oddly enough, the man who is indirectly the team's leading scorer has scored only one point himself, that on a conversion.

Hit 11 in 13 Saturday
Against Florida, George threaded the needle 11 times in 13 attempts for 224 yards and three touchdowns. One of Kentucky's other scores was set up by his passing, and two were called back by penalties.

Blanda came here from Youngwood, Pa., where he had gained admission price reduced for UK Boxing Fans

Bob Garner, Lexington Negro who was Joe Louis' exhibition foe on the champ's recent tour of the South, will return home Monday in the feature an 8-round fight program at Woodland Auditorium, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

Garner's foe will be Jesse McGowan, Ft. Knox soldier who is rising to the top of Kentucky's heavyweights, and who may spoil homecoming for Bob McGowan has a long string of victories in his home state of California before coming to Knox.

Five fights are scheduled for 28 rounds. Jennings Brotherton, Richmond lightweight who scored a knockout after just 50 seconds of the first round on the last card here, will be seen again. His foe is yet to be named.

Worthy of top billing is the semi-windup and middleweight maul between Lexington's Dick Burton and Georgetown's Jake West. These boys have been asking Promoter Ted Fallis to match them for a long time, and Monday night they'll get that long awaited chance. West has won his last three fights by first-round knockouts.

University students will be admitted at a reduced admission by taking advantage of an ad appearing on the sports page.

Sigma Chi Wins IM Gridiron Title

By Tom Spillman and Claude Sprowls
Sigma Chi won the IM touch football championship from Delta Tau Delta 6-0 Tuesday night on Stoll Field.

Most of the game was played in rain, which made the footing of the tennis-shoed players uncertain. A crowd estimated at 600 by Bill McCubbin, IM Director, watched Halfback Bill Branch score SX's lone touchdown. The tally was set up by a 25 yard pass to Halfback Jack Moon from Branch to retain the UK championship.

The game was played, for the most part, in the middle of the field, with neither team able to move fast in the mud.

One player, Jack Guttermuth of DTD, was injured and taken to the infirmary. After examination was completed, it was announced that he suffered mostly body bruises.

Trophies were presented to both the winner and runner-up after the game.

The starting line-ups of the title game were:

only team able to whip Kentucky two years in a row while the Cats have been under the tutelage of Coach Bryant.

Pass Defense Stressed
Pass defense has been stressed this week in the Wildcat grid camp. The Lexington Lynxmen are expecting to be bombarded by Proctor and Littlefield aerials if the weather is reasonably dry Saturday afternoon.

The UK squad is in good condition. However, Jim Howe is out for the season because of a broken collarbone received in the Florida game and is certain to be missed in the Tennessee battle. Fullback Lee Truman is still bothered somewhat by his ankle and, as a result, is used mostly on the defense.

Norm Klein and Dick Martin will fill in for Howe. In addition, Bobby Brooks and Johnny Melhaus, a pair of swift backs, will see considerable action tomorrow according to Coach Bryant.

Starting Backs Uncertain
Quarterback George Blanda will bear the brunt of the Cats' attack. Ralph Genito is expected to start at fullback on offense. Bill Bolter will probably open at left half, while either Norm Klein or Dick Martin will be at the right halfback berth.

Shorty Jamerson might be utilized at both right and left halfback. He will be used much on the defense.

The line will probably be: Wah weyden and Ben Zankke, ends; Bob Gain and Lloyd McDermott, tackles; Dick Holway and Ray Porter or Pat James, guards; and Harry Ulinski, center.

Blanda Key
Blanda's passing and kicking will do much to decide the final outcome of the game. Should he be given good protection on his passes, Blanda might have another outstanding day as he had against Florida last Saturday, when he completed 13 of 15 tosses.

Cats Whip Florida 34-15, For 4th Win

By Kent Hollingsworth
Quarterback George Blanda passed Florida with a wave of his arm Saturday as he threw Kentucky out of the SEC cellar.

Completing 11 out of 13 passes, the Wildcat signal caller made the supposedly wise old drugstore strategists all look like peanuts, as he guided Kentucky to a 34-15 triumph over the Gators.

Blanda tossed three touchdown passes: a 23-yard blooper that Wah Jones caught as easily as a three-year-old does snaffles; a long 30-yard pass that only Dick Martin, of the 24,000 present, thought he could catch and carry over from the ten; and the 41-yard pass to reserve End Al Bruno.

Florida QB Doug Belden, no slouch himself when it comes to football flinging, connected 14 times in 21 tries, but the breaks just weren't with him, for three times he passed the ball down to the Kentucky goal, where Gain, Holway, Ulinski and Company wouldn't let him score.

While on bad breaks, Jim Howe broke his collar bone again. Howe, along with Blanda and three or four good ends, paced the Cat attack. Howe got his hands on the ball ten times, intercepted the only pass for Kentucky, hopped 23 yards for a score, caught the three passes thrown his way, and stepped off a total of 112 yards.

Littleford Top Tennessee Star; Powell Outstanding

Five of Tennessee's top players are shown above. The most outstanding is probably little HAL LITTLEFORD, who scored the winning touchdowns against Kentucky and Vanderbilt at the close of last season.

Littleford is 5' 10", 165-pounds, and a junior from Bristol, Tennessee. Referred to as the "Bristol Blitzard" or "Mr. Swivel Hips" around Eastern Tennessee. A triple-threat tailback, who is making a strong bid for All-Conference.

Against Georgia Tech, Littleford played 58 minutes of the game. One sports writer described his play in this contest as follows: "His long, booming punts put the Yellow Jackets in a hole time after time. His hard, dazzling running paced the Vols' offense, and his third-quarter pass to Bob Lund gave Tennessee a 13-0 lead before the Engineers could get their offense clicking."

No. 2 star might be 6' 1", 186-pound JIM POWELL, captain of the eleven. He hails from Miami, Fla., and ranked ninth in the nation in 1947 for pass receiving. Powell led the team in scoring last season. He was a member of the 1942 Sugar Bowl and the 1946 Orange Bowl teams of Tennessee. Last week against Ole Miss, Powell caught 10 of the 14 completed Vol aerials, which was good for 124 yards. Said to be one of the greatest offensive ends in recent years.

Proctor To Powell

Top passer of the Vols is J. B. PROCTOR, a 5' 11" junior from Nashville. He is the throwing half of the famous Proctor-to-Powell combination. Last season, he completed 24 out of 34 passes in the final three games against Boston College, UK, and Vanderbilt. He is also an excellent runner.

"Probably the roughest, most rugged man on the squad" is the way in which the Tennessee publicity man describes 25-year-old AL RUSSAS, a 6' 2", 200-pound huskie from Providence, R. I. He has played at right end and at center for the Vols this campaign.

A vicious blocker and a tough defensive man, Russas will probably be backing up the line against Kentucky Saturday.

Wingback BOB LUND, like Littleford, is a triple-threat griddler. He is 5' 10", 185-pounds, 21 years of age, a senior and comes from Knoxville. Lund is outstanding on the defense. He caught a Littleford pass in the game with Tech, ran 30 yards, and scored what proved to be the winning TD against the Engineers.

Kentucky's greatest scoring spree against Tennessee was in 1896, when the Wildcats ran up a 56-0 victory.

Tennessee's biggest victory margin over the Wildcats was in 1938, when the undefeated Vols took a 46-0 decision. Only 10 points were scored against the Vols that year.

FENCING

During the week the fencing team continued on their drills with the foil, saber and epee.

The team, thus far, is progressing to the satisfaction of the coach, Scott Breckinridge, and he is now completing negotiations for fencing matches with the University of Louisville, and Vanderbilt.

UK Basketeers Open Season In 10 Days

By Kent Hollingsworth

The Champion Kentucky Wildcats start their 1948-49 basketball season against Indiana Central in Alumni Gymnasium Monday, Nov. 29.

With the opener only 10 days off, the team as a whole is beginning to work into shape. Offensive drills against the freshmen, and foul shots, made up most of the practice this week. Scrimmages were held Tuesday and Thursday but did little more than help the boys get into condition.

Lefty Jim Line, although plagued by a back injury early this year, rebounds better than ever before, and is working on his right handed crip shot. Cliff Barker in his own casual way, intercepted passes and picked up a loose ball now and then, lead scorers in a short scrimmage last week. Alex Groza, guarded by several roof-scratching freshmen, still dominates the rebounds, hits his pivot shots. Ralph Beard is in fine shape, hits the basket consistently from all over the court. Dale Barnstable can run as long as Beard can, hogs the defensive rebounds.

Wait Hirsch plays center during live drills, handles the ball well. Spec Townes, noted for his hustle and drive, drove right into the wall and hurt his knee last week. Roger Day is proving to be one of the most accurate long shots on the team. Johnny Stough is particularly outstanding on offensive drills; he's fast and a sure ball handler, tops defensively.

Rupp Speaks

Coach Rupp and Alex Groza journeyed to Richmond, Indiana, Monday where the Baron gave a talk on the importance of ample recreation facilities for youngsters, before the local businessmen's club. Floyd Baker, Groza's high school coach in 1947, arranged for the banquet.

15 Frosh Cagers To Make Trip To Winchester

By Tom Spillman

Coach Harry Lancaster will take 15 freshman basketball players to Winchester Monday night to play the Wesleyan College frosh squad. They will leave Alumni Gym about 6:30 p.m., in private automobiles.

Although little is known of Wesleyan's first year team, it is understood that they have several big men and will be no push-over.

Perhaps an even tougher game for the charges of Coach Lancaster will be on the night of Nov. 29. As a preliminary to the varsity game with Indiana Central, the freshmen meet Cumberland Junior College at 6:00 p.m. in Alumni Gym. Cumberland Junior College, located at Williamsburg, Ky., was Southeastern Junior College champion last year, as well as Kentucky Junior college champion.

During the course of the year, Cumberland lost only two games while winning about 30 tilts. From this squad, all have reported back for action but two, which should make the visitors hard to beat.

Hall Is Manager

The fellow with the big job of head freshman manager of UK's frosh team is Edward Hall. He takes care of uniforms, equipment, issues towels and soap, cleans basketballs, referees scrimmage games, and is general errand boy.

However, Ed has three capable assistants in the persons of Bob Moore, David Lewis, and Bill Rice.
